

CoHo is offering a special discount for businesses that advertise during the last two shows of our 2011-12 season. Take advantage of these deeply discounted rates and show your support for one of NW Portland's cultural gems. Ads are run in every program CoHo prints, covering 30 performances over the next two productions in our season. CoHo Theater has a maximum capacity of 99 seats.

**Purchasing an ad also entitles you to FOUR COMPLIMENTARY TICKETS to each production! ($200 Value)****

Rates:

Full page - $300 (regular price $375)
Half page - $150 (regular price $210)
Quarter page - $100 (regular price $135)

Shows:

Day of the Docent

by Ebbe Roe Smith
Feb. 17-March 10, 2012

Movie-loving criminal Mick wants to change his life. He and his girlfriend Grace abduct Francis Overley, the writer of his favorite Horror film, to coerce him into becoming Mick's mentor. What begins as a kidnapping develops into a mutually advantageous partnership, as the three collaborate on a screenplay they hope will launch Mick's career, and allow Francis to return from his self-imposed exile from Hollywood. This show weaves together live performance and film clips, created by local actors and filmmakers especially for this event.

Hard Times

adapted by Stephen Jeffries from the novel by Charles Dickens May 11-June 2, 2012.

Three principal players from the celebrated Salem Repertory Theatre, Ted deChatelet, David Janoviak and Tim Manion, reunite as the co-producing team for this unique performance. A small group of actors embody a variety of Dicken's most intriguing characters in the adaptation the New York Times says has "heart, humor and twists that keep the audience engaged until the final resolution."

If you are interested in this special offer, please contact me at erin@cohoproductions.org or 503-220-2646.

Happy New Year!

Erin Lucas
Managing Director
CoHo Productions
2257 NW Raleigh St.
Portland, OR 97210
(503) 220-2646 Office
(503) 223-5308 Fax
www.cohoproductions.org